FAQ's

What are the application requirements?

Candidates to the joint degree pathway must meet the entrance requirements established by each individual program. Please visit IMBA.FIU.EDU for the IMBA admission requirements and <https://law.fiu.edu/admissions/jd/apply-now/> for the JD requirements.

Do I apply for both programs at the same time?

No, you should only apply for the program you plan to start with. We recommend that you begin with the JD program and apply for the IMBA program prior to completing 60 Law credits.

How do I know the tuition for both programs?

You will work with the Program Manager of each individual program to receive a tuition estimate. Your tuition will be lowered based on the courses in common between both degrees.

Do I need the GMAT/GRE test for the IMBA program?

Law students may waive the GMAT/GRE requirement with a competitive score on the LSAT exam.

Will I receive my diploma after I complete the first program?

Joint degree pathway candidates will not receive either degree until all requirements for both programs have been satisfied. Students deciding against completing a second degree must satisfy all requirements for the first program as if the student had never been a joint degree candidate. A student will attend one commencement ceremony for both degrees once all graduation requirements are met.

FIU's College of Business is among the 5 percent of elite business schools worldwide accredited by the AACSB International - The Association to Advance Collegiate Schools of Business.
