

Keynote panelist – September 11, 2021

Nathan Hiller

Executive Director, FIU Center for Leadership

Panelist – “The Really Big Problems in Leadership”

Nathan J. Hiller is executive director of the Center for Leadership and Ingersoll-Rand Associate Professor of Global Leadership and Management in the College of Business at Florida International University. He is passionate about the connection between the science of leadership and the practice of helping leaders and organizations make small adjustments to maximize leadership capacity.

As an academic, Hiller's focus is on investigating how senior organizational leaders and leadership teams can operate more effectively, finding ways to enhance how leadership scholars investigate and understand leadership, and understanding the ins and outs of collective forms of leadership. Hiller's research publications have appeared in most of the top competitive journals in the field and his work has been cited more than 3000 times by other scholars. He holds or has held editorial board positions at the Journal of Applied Psychology, The Leadership Quarterly, and the Journal of Leadership and Organizational Studies. He is the recipient of eight teaching awards and has received several international research awards.

In his role at the Center for Leadership at FIU, Hiller oversees all executive leadership development programs and is the faculty lead for The Senior Executive Leaders Program, The High Impact Leadership Program, The Leadership Accelerator Program, and an internal FIU program geared for senior leaders (deans, vice presidents) of the university. As a leadership development practitioner, Hiller has led projects, held grants, and consulted with senior executive teams and leaders from organizations including Boston Scientific, Hewlett Packard (HP), the U.S. Secret Service, Bacardi USA, Norwegian Cruise Lines and The Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC).

Hiller has held visiting faculty appointments at Cornell University and the University of Washington (Seattle), and taught a graduate leadership course at Fundação Getulio Vargas (FGV) in Rio de Janeiro. Hiller loves to travel and draws regularly from his experience living in four countries on three continents in 10 cities. He received his undergraduate degree from the University of Calgary and both his MS and PhD degrees from The Pennsylvania State University.

Hiller will be a keynote panelist at the Engaged Management Scholarship conference hosted by Florida International University on September 11, 2021.
